ASSISTANT DIRECTOR

OF TRAINING

Jessica Andrews completed her CELTA course at IH London in 2006 and fell in love with teaching English. She has been teaching and training for 12 years.

Jessica is CELTA and Delta qualified and is a certified Cambridge CELTA assessor.

She helped establish the first part-time CELTA course at Cultura Inglesa Recife in Brazil. She trained teachers in Peru, Brazil and China. While at IH London, Jessica delivered a variety of tailor-made specialised training courses for teachers from the Basque country and Brazil. She loves helping people on their journey to becoming better teachers.

Training people who are learning something new for the first time is really rewarding. There is a buzz and excitement that is really difficult to match in other types of work.

The trainers make IH the best place for teacher training. They like to be challenged and creative and love a good chat about teaching. You know you will get a course full of ideas and things to think about while meeting other people who are passionate about teaching.
